Industrial Work At State Hospital Some Good Catches Made by Norwich

Benefits Shown Among Women Patients-Basket Work, Rug Weaving and Lace Making-Grading of Grounds will Soon be Done.

The industrial department for the women inmates at the state hospital ar Brewster's Neck, established in the spring, has now been in operation long enough for much benefit from it to be observed in a number of cases, stated the superintendent, Dr. Pollock, on Thursday evening. Its purpose is curative, emphasizing the idea made prominent in the superintendent's annual reports that the hospital is not merely a place for confinement of the immates, but that effective measures for their restoration to mental health are followed out.

Fishermen.

If you know the secret of the balt, you may catch carp in the Shetucket river, as a number of Norwich fishermen have been doing for some time past. They have known that the carpwere in the river, but didn't know what they would bite on. The right kind of bait was known by the Polacks, said a Norwich man who was fishing at the Laurel Hill bridge on Thursday and had pulled out six two-pounders, but the Pollsh people wouldn't tell. However, some of the local fishermen experimented and now have a bait that the carp will bite on.

Two or three weeks ago the Shetucket in the bend above the railroad bridge was full of carp and they could be seen jumping out of the water in the early morning in large numbers and with spiashes that showed they were big fish, but they have been scarcer of late and one fisherman said he thought they had moved farther up the river.

Several sixtsen pounders are reported to have been landed and other fish have been struck that have carried away pole and line. The same kind of fish have been caught at the head of Yantic cove at the Falls and there they have sometimes got into the shallow spots where they tould be knocked.

they have sometimes got into the shal-low spots where they could be knocked out with a club. The explanation is offered that they come from a pond at Yantle which was stocked with carp several years ago.
